

ABSTRACT

[0050] A peer-to-peer network communication method is disclosed. When a server is active in the network, the server is queried for information about a desired peer. When the server is not active in the network, neighbor peers are queried for information about the desired peer.

20110101 10:00:00